About Our Glaucoma Doctors

Dr Katherine Ochsner, MD is a fellowship trained glaucoma surgeon. Her undergraduate degree was obtained from Tulane University and her Medical degree from Louisiana State University. The University of Louisville was the site of her general ophthalmology training. Dr. Ochsner went on to do additional training as a Fellow in Glaucoma at the University of Texas. On completion of her fellowship, gained further experience throughout Europe and served as Director of Glaucoma Services at the University of Texas in Galveston for nine years. She brought her extensive glaucoma experience and knowledge to Wilmington and Eye Associates in 2000.

Dr. Ochsner limits her practice to the surgical and medical management of all types of glaucoma and associated conditions such as cataracts. She concentrates on complicated cases, allowing the patient's primary eye doctor to co-manage the glaucoma and all other eye problems when possible.
